DENTISTRY.

VERY BEST

A good blacksmith would make a poor dentist, and a man may be a very good dentist in certain kinds of work and poor in others. It is not possible for him to be equally expert in all branches of so complex an art; for there is as much difference between operative and mechanical dentistry as between extracting a tooth and shoeing a horse.

Every member of our association does what he can do best and attempts nothing else.

We have a man for each branch, and that is the great advantage of an association over the ordinary mode of practice.

Extracting, 25 cents; with gas or zinc, 50 cents; cleaning, 75 cents. Silver filling, 75 cents. Gold according to size.

Dr. H. C. Williams' Pink Pills.

A dispatch from New York says: Led to the altar under a hypnotic spell, Mrs. Henry Lawrence, a fair Scotch lass, only three weeks a bride, has now been deserted by her cold-hearted husband, about whose life hangs a deep mystery.

The bride's name was Minnie Johnson, and she was married in Glasgow, Scotland, to a blue-eyed, rosy-cheeked young woman with whom any man might with reason fall in love, but her husband is a cold, hard, and cruel man.

Henry was the cause of much anxiety to his family, and ten years ago, on the advice of his father, who died six months ago, he came to this country, and lived in Philadelphia. There was some secret the family tried to conceal in connection with his life. He made frequent visits to his Scottish home, and a month ago went over to visit his mother.

On this visit he and Minnie met for the first time. She says she exerted some magnetic influence over her, and now believes that he hypnotized her. She felt that she must obey his slightest desire without having the faintest power of resistance. Within three days after their first meeting she had promised to marry him.

After the engagement became known his mother sent for her and strongly advised her not to marry Henry. The chief surgeon in the hospital also tried to persuade her to break off the marriage, saying Henry was not a suitable husband for her. She wished to let her husband for her. She wished to let her husband for her.
